Katie Holmes has got support from her husband Tom Cruise when attending the Cinema Society Screening of "The Romantics" on Tuesday, September 7. Turning the film's title into reality, the pair showed off their strong bond as they kept holding hands since arriving at AMC Loews 19th Street East 6 Theater in New York City.

Holmes, who wore a short white dress matched with a black blazer and stockings, shared laughters with Cruise when posing for cameras. Beside the two, Holmes' "Romantics" co-stars such as Josh Duhamel, Elijah Wood, Adam Brody, Rebecca Lawrence and Malin Akerman also showed up at the special screening.

At the same time of the screening, Yahoo! Movies has debuted a new clip from the movie. Titled "Good Friends", the snippet sees a scene set during a feast when Holmes' Laura delivers a toast to her soon-to-be-brid friend, Anna Paquin's Lila.

"The Romantics" takes place over the course of one night at a deluxe seaside wedding. Laura is maid of honor to Lila, her golden girl best friend. The two have long rivaled over the groom, Tom (Josh Duhamel). Friendships and alliances are tested and the love triangle comes to a head the night before the wedding, when the drunken friends frolic in the nearby surf and return to shore without the groom.

Directed and written by Galt Niederhoffer based on a novel that he wrote, the drama is set to be unleashed in limited U.S. theaters on September 10.
